Context

San Francisco Police Department Faces Force Reduction of 11%

'The city was spending like the good times would never end, but they did'

By Evan Symon,

A proposal by the San Francisco Police Department (SFPD) was released Thursday detailing a plan to cut their police force by 11% later this month; 167 officers could be let go later this month. And that's just the beginning.

Problem:

With fewer resources, where and when should SFPD focus to reduce crime most effectively?

Hypothesis

- Location:

- A majority of additional police resources will primarily need to be allocated to the Tenderloin District and the Mission District.
- Within these Police districts, units will need to increase monitoring for burglary and drug related crimes.

- Time:

- The SFPD will need to increase patrol units during:
 - Winter holiday season, Summer
 - Fridays, Saturdays
 - 10:00AM - 12:00PM, 10:00PM - 12:00AM
- SFPD will need to increase monitoring for burglary around noon and drug related offenses around midnight
